Mission statement

First and foremost, our mission is to meet the education needs of medical professionals who seek out opportunities to expand their knowledge base and continuously improve their skill set for the benefit of their patients and patient families.

We aim to meet the needs of required continuing education credits for medical professionals through continuously reviewing current research, collaboration, and utilizing expert clinicians offering interprofessional knowledge and experience. We aim to offer education in an interactive manner, presenting comprehensive content and prioritizing hands-on clinical scenarios and demonstrations.

To improve the state of extracorporeal care through accessible education and training.
